Market Review

- The CBN issued Treasury Bills to the tune of c.₦915 billion at the two (2) Primary Market Auctions (PMA) conducted in the period. In both Treasury Bill Auctions held in the period, stop rate for the 91-day bill closed at 16.24% and 16.50%, respectively. In addition, Monetary authorities hiked interest rates by 1.50% in the month to bring the policy rate to 26.25% (from 24.75%).
- To end the period, benchmark 91-day, 182-day and 1-year bills closed at yields of 24.64%, 20.61% and 20.80%, respectively. The 1-year OMO Bill also ended the quarter at a yield of 23.81%.
- We recorded another increase in the country’s headline inflation which inched up by 0.49% to 33.69% in April from 33.20% in March following an uptick in food inflation (40.53% vs. 40.01% in March) and core inflation (26.84% vs. 25.90% in March).

Market Review

- The DMO revised the Q2 Bond auction calendar, swapping the 10-year bond for a new 9-year bond. The tight liquidity in the system coupled with the hike in the Monetary Policy Rate and issuance of high yielding OMO bills saw bond yields trend upwards.
- The Monetary Policy Committee maintained a hawkish stance in the month of May by hiking the benchmark interest rate by 1.50% to 26.25% (from 24.75%).
- During the month, the Federal Government accessed c.N381 billion worth of debt via the bond auction. The 5-year, 7-year and new 9-year bonds offered at the auction closed at 19.29%, 19.74% and 19.89% accordingly.

Market Review

- We witnessed sustained volatility in the Eurobonds space due to lower inflation, weaker GDP, a US FOMC with differing expectations of rates direction, along with tensions across Israel/Iran. The FOMC held rates steady at 5.50% after their third meeting in May 2024. The committee put to bed any expectation of a rate hike in the near term and expressed the possibility of a rate cut if the economy begins to feel pressure. On average, the 3-year benchmark Eurobond (Nigeria 2027) returned 0.9% during the month of May.
- In the United States, the Gross domestic product, rose at an annualized rate of 1.3% in the first quarter of 2024, at a slightly slower pace than the 1.6% estimated.
- April inflation (PCE) in the US printed at 2.7%, in line with expectations.

Key Indicators – May 2024

Disclaimer:

Investors should consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of the funds carefully before investing. This and other information are contained in the fund's prospectus and other documents, if available, which may be obtained by contacting our representative. Please read them carefully before you invest or send money.

Performance reflects changes in unit prices, reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions. All periods longer than one year are annualized. A new or smaller Fund's performance may not represent how the Fund is expected to or may perform in the long-term. New Funds have limited operating histories for investors to evaluate and new and smaller Funds may not attract sufficient assets to achieve investment and trading efficiencies. A Fund may be forced to sell a comparatively large portion of its portfolio to meet significant unitholders redemptions for cash, or hold a comparatively large portion of its portfolio in cash due to significant units purchases for cash, in each case when the Fund otherwise would not seek to do so, which may adversely affect performance.

A word about risk: Investing in foreign denominated and/or domiciled securities may involve heightened risk due to currency fluctuations, and economic and political risks, which may be enhanced in emerging markets. The value of most bond funds and fixed income securities are impacted by changes in interest rates. Bonds and bond funds with longer durations tend to be more sensitive and more volatile than securities with shorter durations; bond prices generally fall as interest rates rise. Past rankings are no guarantee of future rankings.
